The wheat midge or weevil is said to be playing sad havoc in the wheat fields in seyeral of the townships of this county, so much so as to render all hope of saving the crop out of the question. Many fields are so severely infested that the grain that will be left will not pay the expense of harvesting. We observe that similar complaints are being made in some of the townships of Kent, Essex, Middlesex, &c. From a card which appears in our ad vertising columns this day, it will be seen that Prof. Chaulaupka is about removing from this part of the country to Port Hope. As a musician he has gained many warm friends in this rection of country; and we are satisfied that in removing to his new field of labor, he carries with him the good wishes of all with whom he has made acquaintance.

We are pleased to be able to state that an energetic effort is now being made to raise the means necessary to construct a good road along the Town Line East between Whitehurch and East Gwillimbury. One of the Committee appointed to receive subscriptions informed us this week that upwards of $600 had already been subscribed. Add to this the amount of Whitchurch grant, $200. and the expected grant from East Gwillimbury of $100, and they will have a fund of some $900 to commence with. The work is supposed to cost about $1 600, and we have no doubt the amount will be speedily raised .-The committee will wait upon the people of Newmarket during the coming week, perhaps, to receive their flonations. We might also mention that Unbridge and Scott Councils have determined to carry this line of road the length of their Townships. This road is an important one, and we hope those interested in it will receive sufficient encouragement to enable them to push the work with energy.

· A Chivari-Serious Amusement.

On the evening of the 13th inst., an attempt was made to chivari a newly marcied couple in Newland, East Gwillimbury, which terminated very seriously. The particulars of the case, as narrated to us, are a follows, A company of young men and boys assombled around the house in which the bride and bridegroom were to spend the night and commenced making discordant sounds, when Mr. Eli Birchard, a brother of the newly married, came out and ordered the parties off the premises. The company then retreated into the road and again com- oblige, monced their music; but a young man named Wm. Cuyler, being lame, was unable to travel as fast as the rest, was attacked by Birchard with an axe, who made several passes at him, which Cuyler warded off with a large Cow-bell. The vote of the clergy was very close, there being but two of a majority in favor of the successful candidate -This may be owing to the energetic canvass that was made naming them by the friends of the Archdeacon, and also to the fact that the dignituries of the Church zealously interested themselves in his behalf. It has been whispered around that promises of preferment had been made by the Bothunites, after the fashion of politicians, by which maneuvro he succeeded in securing a larger voto was after spaking to the baker about that same, than he otherwise would have done. We have no doubt but the result of the election will give general satisfaction, throughout the Province, to both the clergy and the laity of the Episcopal communion. The Bishop elect is a gentleman of irreproachable character and of splendid parts. No better evidence of his worth, is wanted than his popularity with the people who know him best. He has always been regarded as belonging to the Evangelical party, in the Church and never known to object to associate, on the platform, with Dissenting clergymen, and to take with them in the promotion of any moral reform. In the pulpit, the Bishop elect has few equals in the Anglican Church; he is an able and elequent expounder of Bible truths, and withal, a man of piety. We beliove he posesses, in an eminent degree, the qualification necessary to constitute a faithful and successful dinceasan. The result of the first election of Bishop in the British dominions is a happy one, and it conclusively shows that the people are the best judges of the man most suitable for that high and procession to the Church on the Lake Shore, bonorable position, It seems strange that the Crown should be asked to sanction Dr. Cronyn's election, after having been chosen

The money article of the London Times, of July 2, gives a synopsis of the disgraceful facts brought to light by the Woodstock, and Lake Erie Investigation Committee of last session-prefacing the statement with the following marks :--

" Joint stock dishonesty seems to be universal. Canada has now contributed her share to the general disclosures, and it is fully equal to the French, American, and English specimens. For some years, a variety of intrigues have been notoriously in progress to bring about certain railway combinations, in which the Great Western of Canada line had a primary interest; and at length they have exploded in a way that has spread universal scandal.
